ADVANCED DIAGNOSTICS SPECIALTY CABLES

ADVANCED DIAGNOSTICS

The use of gateways in modern vehicles is now commonplace. Automotive gateways manage the flow and exchange of data communications across the vehicle networks in effect acting as the central computing hub. Gateways also provide a higher level security function in protecting the vehicle architecture from unauthorised access. Where key programming is concerned this can pose challenges with some vehicles, in particular, when all keys are lost.

Advanced Diagnostics have developed a number of solutions sometimes referred to as gateway bypass cables to manage all keys lost situations. These cables provide the key programming technician with an easy to use and safe solution negating the need for slicing and splicing of wiring looms.
